02 EDITORIAL

A warm welcome to the pages of the 160th issue of the NEW VOICE OF GOR !

"Audiatur et altera pars" is a Latin phrase that means "hear the other side too", or "hear the alternative party too" It is most often used to refer to the principle that no person should be judged without a fair hearing in which each party is given the opportunity to respond to the evidence against them. This is the motto of any serious publication and newspaper and it is the motto of the NEW VOICE OF GOR too. We also protect our sources. In this issue you will find two different views of an OOC drama (some names deleted). The readers may decide who is wrong and who is right or if both sides are wrong or right or if it is not necessary to decide.

Rarius Yuroki, editor of the NEW VOICE OF GOR

03 WHY RESEARCH?

Greetings Goreans,

I was wandering through Gor one day, visiting a northern sim, and happened to stop and curl up and just watch the goings on. Oh, was there an adventure unfolding before my eyes. The death of a slave, killed for being displeasing to a Free, had resulted into the entire community up in arms over whether she should have been killed or not.

Well, all of that hubbub aside, I looked at said slave's profile and found a quite interesting 'quote' in her picks. After I had picked my jaw up off the ground, I just had to save this quote for future reference.

Well, I thought it was high time to sit down and write out my thoughts. After all, it's not much that can make me speechless, but this certainly had me in awe for a few moments.

You, of course, are welcome to refute these ideas, toss this essay into the trash, and I will not think the worse of you for it. Everyone is entitled to their own thoughts and beliefs, and I happen to be sharing mine. I hope you'll continue to read below and that perhaps this might give you food for thought. As one man says, arrive at your own conclusions.

Should there be anything you wish to discuss over this or other ideas, I would be happy to meet. Simply send word and such a meeting will be arranged.

Best of wishes,

Pyrie Catoria
Caste of Scribes

Though there are pockets around Gor where the caste system does not exist, there is a standard tradition in most of Gor which has each free individual placed within a specific caste. The expectation is that this is the caste to which they were born, with rare exceptions found of free men moving from one caste to the next or of free women assuming the caste of their companion.

The castes are many, each a specific area of need to help keep a village or city running. There is a tremendous pride in each free for their caste, no matter whether it is high or low. Goreans, as a rule, tend to be a proud folk, looking at their work through the eyes of those who enjoy life and are satisfied individuals. The castes are woven together in a kaissa game of life to create a strong community.

Now within the high castes, there is the caste of scribes; those pencil pushers extraordinaire, the ones with smudges of ink on their fingers (and sometimes a nose or two), diligently working in pursuance of knowledge, who should be considered a reliable source on information pertaining to Gor.

I say 'should be', based on personal experiences where I've met 'head scribes' and 'chief scribes' who've not read a single page of John Norman's Gorean saga. One Magistrate thought it amusing to rip a Free Woman's veils off and blow his nose with them. I find it hard to put my faith and trust into answers given by such individuals, but it is standard expectation that we should put our faith in the work and word of those within the high caste of scribes, that their word should be always honorable, honest and trustworthy.

04 ASK TEAL ~ Dubious Advice to Goreans

By Teal Razor

DEAR TEAL:

I am a free woman who companioned well. My consort is a merchant whose marketing skills have gained him much gold and possessions. This fact is not wasted on my side of the family. They are always asking for monetary help. I am growing tired of the constant plea's for money. These family members will not even tell me what they want the money for. I do not want to ask my companion again for their cash requests. How do I squash the guilt that springs up when I say "no" to these leeches?

DEAR ENABLER OF DEFICIT SPENDERS:

Lets deal with the "guilt" feelings first. Guilt is hard to shake off and even when we do, it comes back to haunt us. Look at it this way though...it is not that you have NOT come to the aide of these spendthrifts in the past. You confess that they badger you with requests for gold. I picture you giving them what they require and then you sit back and watch them repeat the actions which caused them to ask for the help to begin with.

This is a case of misplaced love. We tend to love our families, close and extended. But, love is something that should be filled with awe, admiration, respect and compassion. When relatives have thrown your "love" in the refuse heap, I say, save the efforts of your love and money for those who will use it well. And, these leeches are in the process of sucking you dry. The flow of money has become an umbilical cord you are loathe to cut. But that is the action you need to take.

To avoid answering their entreaties for your companion's hard earned cash, I would constantly change the subject when you are in their presence. You could, when asked for a few gold tarsks to help them finish out the month, talk of the last trip you took to the haberdasher or food stall. Wax ecstatic about the color of a nearby flower, write down a recipe for them all the while talking aloud about how the recipe should be executed. Don't give in and by all means, avoid eye contact with your pleading relatives. Think of it as totally ignoring them. If they are not psychopaths, they will cease and desist and walk away from you. If they persist, you will need to find a new Home Stone and not inform them of your whereabouts.

DEAR TEAL:

I am a free woman. My companion of 10 years has told me he is sick and tired of my constant whining. I had no idea I was doing this. Every time I open my mouth, I am complaining about something or other. I must stop or risk not renewing vows with my free companion. How can I do this?

DEAR WINNY THE WHINER:

Whining is a reasonable reaction to an unreasonable situation. and we are wanting support. A certain amount of whining can be healthy. But to go on whining for years....that is a waste of the gift of life.

Now if you must whine, pick the person, to whom you wish to whine, very carefully. Let's make sure it is never your companion. Also, if there are a lot of people around you who are in desperate straights and you just woke up this morning with a pimple on your ass, you need to exercise some sensitivity and understanding toward the desperate and keep your trap shut about the inflamed comedo on your buttocks.

But I just had another thought. Since I do not know you, it may be possible that you are the type that has a perpetual cloud following you around.

You may be addicted to the sympathy you THINK it garners. In that case you could be a person who also wants to shirk any responsibility for the situation that is causing you to whine. But lets say that you have a more serious problem of despair.

If despair seems a good label for you, my heart aches for you. You feel that you have no purpose for your life. As a slave I am not to admonish anyone. In fact, it could mean severe punishment for me. And you are a free woman. It would be rude and obnoxious for me to tell you what to do. But, as I say, my heart aches for one in despair. If despair is your modus operandi, I have to get loud with you. You must get an immediate purpose for your life. Use your life to some benefit. I am not telling you to be a martyr, just to enter into life as if it is a win-win situation. Incentive motivates us all. So it would be imperative that you win from the purpose you take up and others will be similarly motivated and benefitted.

It will be because of these "others" that you will be needed. In using your life to benefit someone else you will find it impossible to have despair at the moments you are practicing this purpose.

Who knows, maybe your companion will be motivated and benefitted by your new purpose and he won't have to hear that noise you pipe through your nasal passages which would cause any Gorean male to want to slap you.

DEAR TEAL:

My free companion and I have renewed our commitment to each other every year for 40 years. I suspect, however, that he is renewing our commitment each year out of some sort of obligation he feels toward me. I would rather him renew our commitment with love. How can I accomplish this?

DEAR DISTURBED:

It seems on the surface that you have not been as attentive and appreciative of your companion over the years as you could have been. Your FC no longer sees you as the companion he wants. This is very sad indeed. And you must take heart and realize there is still a way to fan this dying ember and make it burn hot once again.

The man you choose to renew vows with every year wants a companion that loves him and is committed to him. You may have built walls around yourself and become defensive. Try to hear your companion, acknowledge his needs and admit your mistakes. The upside is that he does not seem to be in a hurry to leave you.

This will give you time to give him back the FC he saw when he first met you.

GOREAN CITIES

05 ABYDOS: BOTH SIDES OF AN OOC DRAMA

ATTENTION TO ALL OF GOR THAT ARE CONCERNED OF RECENT EVENTS

Unfortunately , our sim was grieved this morning by one of the former partners in this sim. .. We woke to find that that builder, XYZ (aka xxx) ..had turned all of our build to pink.

Because of XYZs behavior on the sim towards people (many of you can account for it) kreon and I asked her to leave. XYZ originally agreed to sell us the build but then changed her mind last minute and instead turned it completely pink. XYZ also removed our friendships so that we no longer had mod rights to the build thus we could not do anything to fix it.

One of our citizens suggested we turn it into a bit of fun - and for a good cause.. so we decided to send out a notice, THINK PINK, and while visitors came and saw in shock the grieved village - they could donate to Relay for life . XYZ has after that contacted the organizer of RFL and announced that we are liars. You should know that English is NOT XYZ's first language and she often misunderstood which resulted in lash outs that were unnecessary.

We thought to roll back the sim - but at any time XYZ could still grief us - as she own the buildings. The best thing to do was to return all XYZ's things and start anew. So that's where we are at. We were not going to bring this to any of your attention. We thought we would have been able to keep silent and let her fade away into the dark but due to XYZ's endlessly drama we have to answer. After this answer none from Abydos will answer anymore to XYZ's drama as you never should argue with idiots since they only pull you down to their level and win due to their experience.

We welcome you all to come check out our new build when it is done and i thank ALL of you very much that have been IMING us supporting words and offering all kinds of help to get back into operation.

Kreon and I, and all of our friends here in Abydos are here for fun. This is our recreational escape , we have no intentions of hurting anyone It is unfortunate that Second life doesn't automatically turn avatar rp:ers into incredibly good people out to help and encourage their friends. Sadly , as in RL we have to deal with hateful people that get off on hurting others.

ABYDOS IN PINK OR WHY SHITS HAPPENS

Because some people love to do drama and I received funny note with heartbreaking story how i ruined Abudos .This note is sent to all Gorean sims. So here is my side of the coin :)

1. I owned Abydos together with Kreaon71 and Wynn Salomon. I build every single stone and grass straw there. The work continued months and cost me a lot time, passion and attention.
2. During all this time me and my coo owners started to have some disagreements.
3. 10 days ago Kreon71 asked me to sale the build to him only for zero lindens and to leave. All this was supported with unexpected drama.
5. My strong opinion is that i was right like a creator of all this to ask the sim build to be payed proper. It was not one hut or furniture set . As you can see from the picture the build is very solid and obviously cost a lot time and effort. Not really logical someone to ask build like this to be freebie.
6. My ex co owners started giant fight and campaign against me. Calling me bitch, drama queen and crazy woman (which is not the most clever and polite way to convince someone to sale)) ...* remark - I am not bitch - I am The Bitch.
7. Tired by all the drama I decide to give to them the freebie - in Pink :)

So this is it. Now after all I am the negative character in this book chapter. Fine guys. Let it be. I am sorry for the people of Abydos. But I believe they would understand the problem. I had no intention to continue the drama. Wynn Salomon hurried to return the build (which by the way was stupid cause i was to change the color after few hours :)) I decide this story is ended. But now my ex partners continue the drama sending in public this pathetic letters. I wanted to apologies to all people involved. I am really ashamed by my ex partners and the way they try to involve all Gor in this silly regional drama. . people ... please ... Stop it !Please do not IM me .Do not ask me details. I am in SL to have fun :) and my pink period just ended together with this drama :)

ONLINEISMS OF THE WEEK

BAZI TEA

~There is NO mention in the books of a Bazi tea ceremony. The books only speak of the tea being had in three small glasses at a time and sugared. Tribesmen of Gor comes closest to describing the serve of Bazi tea.

See: Tribesmen of Gor, 139 - 148.

"THREE BEATS OF A SLAVE'S HEART"

~There are NO references of the slave holding a vessel for three beats of a slave's heart in the books.

.KALANA SERVED IN SILVER VESSEL

~From the books there is one reference where Kalana was served in a silver goblet. It is not poisonous to the drinker when served in silver.

"I do not wish to come home with you now," she said, lightly, a bit of Ka-la-na spilling from the silver goblet she held. At a gesture from Kliomenes, who sat, cross-legged, beside her, a half-naked paga slave, whose left ankle was belled, refilled Miss Henderson's cup. "

ABOUT THE NEW VOICE OF GOR

(OOC) FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTION

Is the NEW VOICE OF GOR OOC or IC?

This newspaper is available IN CHARACTER at message boards in several cities. But it has OOC parts and IC parts which can be identified although many people mix both. We try to keep the two separate. But if you start a storyline based on an IC article of the NEW VOICE OF GOR it would be useful for a moderator to have a log where you have read the message ICly.

The NEW VOICE OF GOR can be true or false, propaganda or journalism like on earth. There is no freedom of the press on Gor. Why let the truth get in the way of a good story?!

"Goreans were not always fooled by posts on boards.
Those who control the public boards, it is said, control the city.
But I was not sure of this.
Goreans are not stupid.
It is difficult to fool them more than once. They tend to remember."
(Magicians of Gor)

Why is "publicare et propagare" the motto of the NEW VOICE OF GOR?

You all know that Goreans use message boards to spread news, announcements and gossip. Such are found at various points in Ar, such as the vicinity of squares and plazas, near markets, and on major streets and avenues.

Books are rare on Gor and expensive. Paper is the essential trade good of the Rencers and they sell their wares on both the eastern and western edges of the Delta of the Vosk river. The NEW VOICE OF GOR is a collection of renece paper scrolls but the editor paid some message boards too to spread the newspaper. Gorean Public Boards sometimes made people angry. Those who control the public boards, it is said, control the city.

We took our motto from the Acta Diurna [latin: Daily Acts sometimes translated as Daily Public Records] on earth. The Acta Diurna were daily official notices in ancient Rome, a sort of daily gazette. They were carved on stone or metal and presented in message boards in public places like the Forum of Rome.

Acta Diurna introduced the expression "publicare et propagare", which means "make public and propagate". This expression was set in the end of the texts and proclaimed a release to both Roman citizens and non-citizens.
