THE SLAVE'S CORNER ~ A Satiric View of Life on Gor

By Teal Razor slave of Siri Emerald Jr Port Olni Scarlet

ATTENDING CLASS ~ Or ~ Wish I Could Throw Spit Balls

By Teal Razor

I would like to start out with a disclaimer for this weeks drivel. I need to inform all the free and slave in SL GOR who think this article is about them, please don't. The planet has suffered enough from your inability to read your native language.

This last week I was dragged along by my Master to a city in which he had some business or other. I really did not mind as I wanted to show off the new tunic he bought me. The two of us left early in the morning and waited inside the tarn cot on the city walls for the Gorean version of an Airbus a380. The tarnsman who locked me into the basket of the great bird looked like he had been swilling wine all night. I think his bird had more presence of mind at the time than he did. The bird took us all safely to a destination a few hundred pasangs away. The view from the basket was breathtaking but quite wasted on me as I spent the entire time trying not to display the contents of my stomach.

We landed uneventfully. When the basket was unlocked I bounced out and kissed the ground. I have never been able to shake my white-knuckle approach to flying. I was influenced by my first ride on a tarn. There were four tarnsman who had attended a slave auction in Port Kar at which I was being sold. It was my first introduction to the auction block and hopefully it will be my only one. There were lots of other slave girls of course and the four tarnsman each purchased a slave. The money was exchanged and we were each strapped to the saddle of a tarn. It is disconcerting to be strapped, on your back to a bird. You see only the Master's face and the sky above you.

I begged the Master that bought me to seat me behind him on the saddle. I told him that I would keep him warm on the trip home by hugging onto his back. He switched me a few times with the riding crop he held to make me understand that it was his idea he was implementing and not mine regarding my seating on the saddle. He decided to seat me in front of him to absorb the buffeting winds and so all four of the tarns took off together. As I watched the three tarns in front of us, I suddenly heard the piercing scream of a woman and witnessed a slave fall off of one of the tarns to her death below. This image was enough to, there after, color my opinion of tarn flight.

My Master walked out of the tarn cot of the city we were visiting and with me in tow, made his way to the large kennel in the city that contained pens housing at least fifty or more female slaves. Two things ran through my mind at that point. First thought was that he was about to sell me and second thought was that he was in the market for another girl to add to his chain. Both of these possibilities were frightening to me. I walked behind him much subdued. The guards at the kennel asked his business and he inquired if there was a class I could pick up while he was in the city.

I was so relieved I knelt down and kissed his feet. My Master was much startled at this and looked up confused at the guards who were chuckling. The guards informed him that the kennel Mistress was starting a class down in the pens in fifteen ehn. My Master passed me to one of the guards, giving him a few coppers to pay for my food while there. I was very disappointed that I would not be sharing a tavern lunch with my Master. I was looking forward to the meats he would feed me from his plate and the opportunity to practice some new moves in the dance pits. Instead I would be fed kennel fare. Ah well, it would be an opportunity to hear the gossip of this city and so I went off merrily. I turned briefly to give my Master a forlorn look so as to compound his guilt.

I was made to go through a low door on my hands and knees. Inside this cage were maybe twenty other girls awaiting the start of the kennel class. The pen we were in did not smell too bad and before the start of class, a good amount of fresh straw was tossed in the pen making a soft floor to kneel on. A few of us took the straw and distributed it on the floor. I suppose the one teaching the class did not want to smell us any more than we did ourselves. I accidentally bumped butts with another slave which caused us to laugh and so we started talking in whispers to each other.

All talk stopped when the door of the cage opened and in walked a woman of gargantuan proportions. This was no exaggeration. I looked at her chest and expected to see hair. Her arms were well muscled and strapped in black leather. Her robes were made of black leather. She wore sandals that were made of very soft leather studded with metal. Her hair was pulled back severely from her face. She wore a necklace of spleen claws. At her hip was the loose blades of the slaver's whip and in her hand was a quirt. She looked like she wanted to use it on anything in her path. I wondered if my Master had checked this particular kennel out before he had decided to leave me here. I noticed most of the slave's trembling before this visage. She opened her mouth and I almost fell over with laughter. Her voice was high and breathy as though she was in a constant state of arousal. I squirmed to try to disguise the shaking of my shoulders caused by the suppression of my mirth. This caught the attention of the kajira on my left which caused her shoulders to start shaking. This was shaping up to be a fine day. The suppressed laughter was abruptly silenced with a cuffing from the "Mistress of Darkness". I straightened up immediately.

The lecture was about how free women despise kajirae. I think, however, that the lecture should have been named "Watch Your Backs When Around Free Women". The fact is, free women are disgusted by female slaves. I don't think I would care to have a naked kajira nearby, who is required to please men with whatever means are at her disposal, while I am with my companion. I mean where do you think the attention of that man is going? A female slave, for her part, is only partly to blame for this mess. If you are commanded to exquisite beauty and absolute obedience you can do no less. Garnering the ire of the free woman is not something you would want. In particular, free women choose to belittle and badmouth kajirae whenever they see one; in the commons, the market place, the docks, city meetings, etc. You get the picture. This is not lost to any female who finds themselves in a collar. Can you hardly blame the free female though? I would be tempted to hit that slave with a broom to chase her from the premises.

I have heard that there are kajira who, when hearing of the displeasure of a free woman or free companion with them, tend to do things to get even. Now, I know that is not an acceptable thing to do, but if you can get away with it? I rest my case. Even though the fact that free women despise us, I have only come upon two harridans in my slave career that have probably deserved the ministrations of the Assassin's blade. One woman makes no bones about hating slaves and has killed or has had several of them killed. One knows to cut a wide swath around this hateful old tarsk. Another woman dishes out her vituperative language on the heads of kajira who dare to address her or look her in the eyes.

I listened to the "Mistress of Leather" intently. We broke for lunch after two hours and were treated to meat, vegetables, fruit, bread and a piece of cake, which we were permitted to eat with our hands. I broke out in smiles when I saw the nice hunk of cake in a bowl in front of me. It turns out my Master had checked this kennel out before leaving me here for the day. Cake was featured prominently on the menu, a food stuff I cannot do without.

After lunch we were treated to another ahn of instruction and were then permitted a nap. I was awoken rudely by the guard telling me to look alive since my Master was at the gate to pick me up.

I ran out to him and jump hugged him. He carried me along for a few paces and then set me down. "How was your day my slut?" he asked. "Oh it was great, especially the cake!" I said. He winked at me and we made our way back to Port Olni.

# [SCHEDULE] FESTIVAL OF STEEL

Tal Warriors of Gor!

The city of Olni is proud to announce:

THE FESTIVAL OF STEEL!

2nd of August

4 PM SLT

This is an IC event, that will consist of a two part sword tournament and a feast to top it off. So sharpen your steel, dress your slaves in their finest attire and pull out the finery in your home that hasn't seen use since the honeymoon phase of your companionship wore off.

To the victors! Gold, honor and trophies!

To the fallen! Being fed to the hungry pawing hands of sweat sheened slaves, their need to serve afire from the conflict of men they have witnessed.

Top three will be awarded prizes to be determined

After the three best component of the tournament, first and second place will select lieutenants from the bodies they climbed over to reach the top, and a 3v3 melee will commence. this portion has it's own purse, which will be divided amongst the winning team.

OR

As an alternative, depending on time available, a Grand Melee for all comers with the prize going to the Last Man Standing.

Once all of the blood, sweat, tears and cries of triumph have subsided Join Olni in celebrating the courage and heart of those that competed in a feast that will allow one to toast their victory, or eat away their feelings of defeat.

Again. IC event. but open to all. there will be Peace in Olni for this time. Break the peace, and then we might have some issues, but for the most part I think we'll all be fine. Arena mode

WILL be used, as the contest is not to the death. Proudly brought to you by those that keep Olni running.

As this is an IC event there will be a limited window for late arrivals, as we'll not be waiting for a long period of time to start the tournaments. Late comers may still be selected for the 3v3 group melee.

08 UBAR UNCOVERED

A painting of a naked Ubar graced the wall of a Ladies bath-house and tea room..... but which Ubar ? Who sketched it? Who paid for it? Only a handful of people know the answers.....

Under cover of darkness she stole
In her pocket a silver and Gold
To make a sketch
Of a Man she would fetch
A vision indeed to behold

Silently into the bath house she sneaked
Around the corner she peeked
The Ubar was nude
His mood seemed subdued
So clean was his skin that it squeaked

The rumours he didnt bathe were not true
Her quill she began to chew
From her pocket some paper
In the air scented vapour
His naked splendour she drew

The scratches of quill he heard
Soap flakes in his eyes made all blurred
Peering into the dark
She swooped like a lark
Behind cushions sure her heart could be heard

The portrait was finished now escape
The hood pulled up on her cape
She tiptoed away
Under the sound of the spray
To show all the Ladys his shape

The private tea house now has some new Art
Displaying the Ubars private parts
But who paid? who sketched?
The finest of Etch
Causing flutters in the swooning Ladies hearts.....

# THE GOREAN RECRUITMENT CENTRE

As listed in the SL destination guide, on its Website and in World via the SL3 viewer
And Now on the "Tumbler" Loads of New people coming and looking for RP destinations

The Gorean Recruitment Centre (GRC) has, since its creation in 2009 , expanded on a regular basis. and this is due NOT to the wishes of the Owner, but because of the needs of the people who use it.

The GRC is now a Part of the ROLEPLAY CENTRE ( RPC) but it retains its total Gorean Theme and is 100% separate from the RPC itself. they just share the same landing point. As the signs show. The GRC HALL is to the Right and through an Archway.

NEW TO GOR Classes

Gorean Campus presents "NEW TO GOR" series of classes, that run in continuous rotation

Tuesdays @ 10 AM & 6:30 PM

in the Campus Gallery classroom

Classes are a basic introduction to SL Gor for those that are new, and a valuable review for the more experienced.

Although geared toward the Free.. kajiri will find them beneficial & valuable as well.

Gorean Campus is a safe, independent, non-commercial, non-aligned academy.

Cities sending students, have no fear of their citizens being 'recruited'.

Classes cover the (by the books) basics of Gorean behaviour, dress, deportment... and the 3 pillars of Gor, Home Stone, caste system and natural order/slavery.

## KNOWLEDGE

13 THENTIS MOUNTAIN REGION

The Thentis Mountains lie north of the Vosk River. The books say little about the mountains or the cities that exist within and around them. Maybe a future book will more fully address the matter. To the east of the mountains are the Barrens. To the west are numerous cities and eventually Thassa. The city of Ko-ro-ba lies to the northwest of the these mountains. There are a couple types of flora indigenous to this region. The needle tree, an evergreen, is common in the Thentis mountain region and also the northern forests. Its oil is used as an ingredient in making perfume. Thentis Veminium is a bluish, softly petaled wildflower commonly found in the lower ranges of the Thentis Mountains and also used as an ingredient in perfumes. These two items would tend to imply that cities within the mountains may have numerous Perfumers.

The high city of Thentis lies in a remote area within these rugged mountains. It is most famed for its fine tarn flocks and skilled tarnsmen. The books do not state who leads the city or even if an Administrator or Ubar rules. The city must import its grain so it is safe to assume they engage in little agriculture. But, it is a wealthy city due to its large tarn flocks and a number of silver mines. Though the mines provide them with a source of wealth, they are not as rich as the silver mines of Tharna. Though it is a mountain city, it is still composed of cylinders like most Gorean cities.

Black wine is a coffee-like drink made from beans grown in the mountain city of Thentis. It is very strong and bitter. Thentis does not trade the beans to make this drink. They wish to maintain a monopoly on this product, further enhancing their wealth. But, it is a luxury even in Thentis. It is commonly only served in High Caste Homes. It is also an expensive luxury outside Thentis, affordable only by the wealthy. Few except for the most expensive of paga taverns would serve blackwine due to its rarity and expense. There is one reference where a cup of blackwine outside of Thentis sold for sold for a silver eighty-piece.

Black wine is traditionally served very hot, with sugars and powdered bosk milk, in tiny cups. Other spices or cream may also be served with it. The cups may have small handles or not. In some ways, it is like espresso coffee. In the river cities and some northern cities, the phrase "second slave" indicates that you do not want any creams or sugars with your black wine. This comes from the custom in some areas for two kajirae to serve black wine. One kajira is responsible for putting down the cups, taking the orders and seeing that the drink is prepared according to the customer's preferences. The second kajira only pours the black wine.

In 10,110 C.A., the Master Assassin Pa-Kur forcefully captured the City of Ar. But, he was soon after overthrown by Tarl Cabot, Marlenus and forces from Ko-ro-ba and Thentis. After these events, Thentis and Ko-ro-ba became allies. It is only a one-day ride by tarn from Thentis to Ko-ro-ba but by wagon it would take the better part of a month. Earlier that same year, Tarl was supposed to use a slave as a substitute for the daughter of Marlenus when he went to steal the Home Stone of Ar. This slave would be killed. Instead, he freed the girl, Sana of Thentis, and returned her to Thentis. When Tarl's friend, Kazrak, returns from going to seek aid from Thentis, Sana accompanies him. After Pa-Kur is ousted, Kazrak becomes the Administrator of Ar and Sana becomes his consort. Years later, Kazrak would be deposed and he and Sana would vanish, allegedly to found a colony on an island in Thassa, farther north than Cos and Tyros.

Prior to 10,110 C.A., Thentis had been occasionally attacked by Ar. Ar was known to raid its tarn flocks and outlying cylinders. Around 10112 C.A., Thentis engaged in a war with Tharna. This was the year before Tatrix Lara ascended the throne. It seems that the outcome of the war was indecisive as the final results were never described. Neither city appeared greatly affected by its effects. Treve has never attacked Thentis though. It might be because the tarnsmen of Thentis are the equal to those of Treve.

Few people from Thentis are described in the books. One of those people is Clark, of the House of Clark, who owns the largest slaver house in Thentis. His House is well known over much of Gor. Clark is also an agent of the Priest-Kings.

There are a number of border towns located on the eastern edge of the Thentis Mountains. Many of these towns are served by itinerant tradesmen and artisans. These individuals cannot find sufficient work in one of these towns to support themselves. Thus, they try to cover a route that would include about five to ten such towns. Such a route allows them enough money to make a living.

Within the mountains is the Boswell Pass, once a militarily important pass. It was named after the early white explorer, Boswell. At the foot of the pass, on the eastern side of the mountains, is Fort Haskins. Fort Haskins was originally a trading post, maintained by the Haskins Company, a company of Merchants primarily from Thentis. Eventually, it was transformed into a military outpost for Thentis, garrisoned by mercenaries. It then became known as Fort Haskins. The Fort was burned twice, once by Port Olni before the Salerian Confederation formed, and once by the Dust Leg tribe. The military significance of the Pass though declined with the growth of population in the area and the development of tarn cavalries in Thentis. The Fort was eventually abandoned as a military outpost and it has become a trading post once again, manned by Merchants of Thentis. There is also a town nearby, going by the same name. It is located primarily to the west and a bit south of the fort.

Kailiauk is the easternmost town at the foot of the Thentis Mountains. It lies almost at the edge of the boundary that marks the lands of the red savages. The Administrator is a Merchant named Publius Crassus. The primary business of the town is in the sale of kailiauk hides and kaiila. It is also a social and commercial center for the many surrounding farms and ranches. There may actually only be about four to five hundred permanent residents. But the many visitors bring the temporary population of the town into the thousands. The town has several inns and taverns along its central street to accommodate these visitors. The most noticeable feature of the town though is its kailiauk hide sheds. These are open sheds where, on platforms tied in bundles, are thousands of hides. This also gives a certain odor to the town. In other parts of town there are huge piles of horn and bone, often thirty or more feet high. Like many other small towns, tarsks are used to scavenge the garbage in the streets. In this town, the exchange rate is one hundred copper tarsks to a silver tarsk.

Ram Seibar is a Slaver who deals in slaves and kaiila. His pennon is yellow with a black shackles and whip. He owns a large compound that is surrounded by a wooden palisade. During the events of Savages of Gor, he was a major dealer of barbarians from Earth. These barbarians had their ultimate source from the Kurii. His compound has a number of slave pits. The pits are broad, rounded pits about five feet deep. They are encircled by a waist high wooden railing. The slaves in the pits cannot stand in the pits unless they are specifically permitted to do so. A few other locations within the town include the Five Horns stables that handle kaiila, Randolph's tavern and the tavern of Russell.

North of the town, are a number of kaiila ranches. They are generally remote, desolate places. The drovers at the ranches visit the town infrequently. But when they do, they commonly seek out paga and slave girls. Max and Kyle Hobart are drovers from the Bar Ina ranch and are well known within Kailiauk. The Hobarts are a vain and proud people.

About two pasangs east of Kailiauk is the Ihanke, also known as the Boundary or Perimeter. Boundary wands mark the Ihanke that starts the lands of the Red Savages in the Barrens. The wands are about seven to eight feet tall, and made of peeled Ka-la-na wood. At the top of each wand are two long, yellow, black-tipped feathers of the Herlit. They can be seen even above the snow in the winter. The wands are spaced close together near areas of dense white inhabitation, only about two hundred yards apart. In areas of sparse inhabitation, they are spaced much further apart. The perimeter is thousands of pasangs long and has been stable for over a century.

## ABOUT THE NEW VOICE OF GOR

The NEW VOICE OF GOR is a weekly Gorean newspaper since 2011.

Forerunners were the "Vonda Voice" (since 03-26-2009, issues 1-56, editor Verona Lorgsval), the "Voice of Gor" (since 07-14-2010, issues 1-133, editor Verona Lorgsval), the landa Times (since 2011, issues 1-71, editor Rarius Yuroki [Yuroki Uriza])

# (OOC) FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTION

Is the NEW VOICE OF GOR OOC or IC?

This newspaper is available IN CHARACTER at message boards in several cities. But it has OOC parts and IC parts which can be identified although many people mix both. We try to keep the two separate. But if you start a storyline based on an IC article of the NEW VOICE OF GOR it would be useful for a moderator to have a log where you have read the message ICly.

The NEW VOICE OF GOR can be true or false, propaganda or journalism like on earth. There is no freedom of the press on Gor. Why let the truth get in the way of a good story?!

"Goreans were not always fooled by posts on boards.
Those who control the public boards, it is said, control the city.
But I was not sure of this.
Goreans are not stupid.

It is difficult to fool them more than once. They tend to remember."
(Magicians of Gor)

Why is "publicare et propagare" the motto of the NEW VOICE OF GOR?

You all know that Goreans use message boards to spread news, announcements and gossip. Such are found at various points in Ar, such as the vicinity of squares and plazas, near markets, and on major streets and avenues.

Books are rare on Gor and expensive. Paper is the essential trade good of the Rencers and they sell their wares on both the eastern and western edges of the Delta of the Vosk river. The NEW VOICE OF GOR is a collection of renece paper scrolls but the editor paid some message boards too to spread the newspaper. Gorean Public Boards sometimes made people angry. Those who control the public boards, it is said, control the city.

We took our motto from the Acta Diurna [latin: Daily Acts sometimes translated as Daily Public Records] on earth. The Acta Diurna were daily official notices in ancient Rome, a sort of daily gazette. They were carved on stone or metal and presented in message boards in public places like the Forum of Rome.

Acta Diurna introduced the expression "publicare et propagare", which means "make public and propagate". This expression was set in the end of the texts and proclaimed a release to both Roman citizens and non-citizens.
